

Wellbeing Mapping

An effective wellbeing strategy utilises each of the four approaches described in Leading Safety's CEO Guide to Mental Health and Wellbeing at Work (2021, see diagram).

The Wellbeing Mapping process addresses the following questions:

- What is the state of your existing wellbeing strategy?
- Does that strategy cover all four bases?
- How can you best strengthen your wellbeing strategy?

Leading Safety maps your organisation's systems, processes, and programmes against the four approaches to identify which elements are present and fit-for-purpose and which are not. Leading Safety then works with you to develop a roadmap to close any gaps in your wellbeing strategy, get more from what's already working well, and ensure alignment with your other strategic initiatives and people processes.

Get in touch with us at team@leadingsafety.co.nz to find out how Wellbeing Mapping can help you take your wellbeing strategy to the next level and put the welfare of your people at the centre of everything your organisation does.